MODERN FARMHOUSE HOME & LIVING

What's Cooking

Matt and Yana Ostrowski's kitchen is a crowd pleaser. With nine children ranging in ages from 5 to 18, it's the core for the family's day-to-day. Thanks to the design savvy of Boston-based Kristina Crestin it's not only brimming with people, but also a heaping helping of smart, stylish ideas.

THICK-CUT COUNTERTOPS

These leathered soapstone countertops measure 3 centimeters thick. (One is the norm.) The oversized proportions pair well with the island's wood and scale.

WOOD-WRAPPED ISLAND

Ensuring the clean-lined cook space has some rough-hewn style, the island is clad in honey-hued fir planks. The look is repeated on the refrigerator enclosure. And, yes, the island is large. It measures just over 12 feet long!

FARMHOUSE KITCHEN

Take a tour of a show-stopping cook space that serves up charm at every turn.

FLUSH WITH THE COUNTERTOPS
MAXIMIZE SCENIC COUNTRY VIEWS.

INDUSTRIAL-INSPIRED OPEN SHELVING

Reinforcing the kitchen's utilitarian roots, open shelves crafted from reclaimed wood and plumbing fittings keep essentials within arms-reach.

FARM-FRESH EGGS

Is it really a farmhouse kitchen without fresh eggs at the ready? Sally the hen would argue it's not.

COUNTRY-BLUE CABINETRY

No white kitchen here! Instead, the cabinetry color was inspired by Spatterware and old pickup trucks.

HARDWORKING CHALKBOARD

This command center was crafted from a piece of slate, salvaged from a previous project. The uneven edges match the room's rustic design.

EXPANSIVE BANQUETTE

The custom-made table measures a whopping 9 feet long and comfortably seats the entire Ostrowski clan. Bench-seating piled with throw pillows and Windsor chairs make it a spot everybody is happy to sit and stay awhile.

CAST-IRON SKILLETS MAKE FOR A STRIKING DISPLAY ITEM WHEN NOT IN USE.

HANDSOME FLOORS

The newly remodeled kitchen has an old country vibe thanks, in large part, to the use of slate tile floors. The rich material complements the blue millwork and recalls a time when it was a mainstay in farmhouse kitchens.

LAYERED CHANDELIER

This wide—it's nearly 6 feet!—fixture is brand-new but its varying shapes and sizes of globes give it a homespun feel.
