Our annual guide to the local designers and resources that dazzled us this past year.

WHY WE LOVE IT

Designer Kristina Crestin maximized this vacation home's tiny guest sleeping quarters without minimizing its elegance. The top bunks have twin-size beds for little ones, and the bottom bunks are full-size for older children or couples. Inspired by the design of boat cabins, Crestin used every nook and cranny, providing each bunk with a built-in cubby to accommodate a reading light, books, and a clock; even the stair risers do double duty as storage drawers. The magnificent ceiling is made of reclaimed barn board, which gives the room a "summer-camp feel," she says.
